AT THE DAVIS. Fourth Reel of Our Mutual Girl Being Shown Today.

Our Mutual Girl, the photoplay that has caught the picture fans by storm all over the country, is being shown at this popular theatre today. In this fourth release we again meet that charming actress, Norma Phillips, who plays the part of Marguerite, Our Muplays the part of Marguerite, Our Mutual Girl. A lot of interesting things are seen in this picture, and it would take too long to mention them all, but the few principal ones are a visit to Bonwit, Teller & Co.'s famous Fifth avenue store, where the latest creations in ladies' gowns are displayed to advantage on living models. Another scene shows Piping Rock, the most fashionable country club in the world, and many other things that will interest you are seen in this fourth reel of Our Mutual Girl. In the vaude-wille today there are three acts of the highest standard. The Ver Valin Trio do a lively singing, musical and acrohighest standard. The Ver Valin Trio do a lively singing, musical and acrobatic dancing; the Bonetti Brothers do a sensational aerial act, the big feature being a thrilling daredevil slide for life, hanging by the teeth; Hahn & Owen do a clever singing and talking specialty that is more than pleasing. The balance of the bill consists of three reels of best Mutual movies, both comedy and dramatic. For the first half of next week there will be five vandeville acts and new photofirst half of next week there will be five vandeville acts and new photo-piays; a big show, with no advance in prices. Watch Monday's papers for full particulars.

COMING TO THE DAVIS.

The wonderful white slave production, Traffic in Souls, will be shown at the Davis theatre on Thursday, Friday and Saturday next week. This photo drama in six parts has created a furore and a sensation by the story of the tragedy of Jericho.

At the Federated church the morning sermon will be upon Our Great Redeemer. Evening sermon upon Billie and Jack Suffering for Father's Sin, or the Tragedy of Jericho.

At Brewstan's and State of St at the Davis theatre on Thursday, this day and Saturday next week. This photo drama in six parts has created a furcre and a sensation in New York pastor, will preach at the service at pastor, will preach at the service at 2.30 in the afternoon upon the topic with a With a Withered Hand. city, where it has been playing to capacity houses for the last four weeks. During its engagement at Weber's the reserves had to be called out on three or four occasions, in order to restore quiet, as the crowds became unruly and fought for admission.

is based on the actual reports of part, is based on the actual reports of the Rockefelier investigating commit-tee for the suppression of vice, and District Attorney Whitman's white slavery report. It shows the actual workings of the vice trust and the "system," but in the whole treatment of the subject there is not one sug-gestive or obscene scene in the entire 6,000 feet of film.

shown to and has the endorsement of the committee of 14 who have the handling of these subjects. It was more than endorsed by the president of the immigrant home for girls, who is now working on a plan to have these pictures shown in the steeres of inpictures shown in the steerage of inpictures shown in the steerage of in-coming liners as a lesson to young girls coming to this country.

The moral lesson and the showing up of the work of the "system" will be a great aid to the uplift societies in their work to suppress this great evil, and, regardless of the great dramatic construction and spellbinding climax-es, this picture should be seen by ev-ery woman in the land. ery woman in the land. Three shows will be given daily— 2.80, 7, 8.45 p. m. Prices, 10c, 15c and

COLONIAL THEATRE.

The Street Singers, Two Reels, Featuring Lillian Walker and Cutey.

Lillian Walker, with her fetching dimples and begulling way, plays in this superlative feature, the part of Betty, the street singer and dancer, and daughter of an organgrinder. She is the beloved of Wallle, son of a rich old man, who disapproves of the attentions of his son to the street singer. The soir slope but the street singer. The pair elope, but their troubles increase, so they turn to making a living on the street. The romance flourishes and finally a manager of a motion picture house in-duces them to come to his studio to appear in his company. The respecthe fathers of the pair afterwards see the young couple in a motion picture and then find out their whereabouts and, forgetting all differences, take them home to peace and happiness. them home to peace and happiness.
G. M. Anderson appears in a brilliant western drama of which he is the hero, the story being entitled Broncho Billy and the Settler's Daughter; there is also a fascinating society drama called The Windfall, and there is abundant comedy in the Patheplay entitled A Two Family Affair.

AT THE AUDITORIUM.

One of the best all round shows that has played this theatre this year is scheduled for this afternoon and tonight. The vaudeville programme is breaded by Mary Bair & Co. of five people in a rural comedy sketch. There a lot of good comedy running through the act and many amusing situations. There are several good song numbers in the act, including some excellent singing numbers by a mixed quariette. Gordon & Rose, two mixed quartette. Gordon & Rose, two men, present a very clever act in The Peanut Man, a comedy skit full of bright lines and good songs. Nina Espy, the banjo girl, has a neat offering in the musical line which always wins a big hand. The photoplay programme is headed by a two-reel picture. The Magic Skin, with J. Warren Kerrigan in the leading role. It is taken from Honore De Balzac's great story of the same name story of the same name.
On Monday three fine vaudeville numbers are booked, including the MoGinnis Bres., a big time novelty

"HE LEADETH ME."

"In pastures green?" Not always; sometimes He Who knoweth best in kindness leadeth me In weary ways, where heavy shadows Out of the sunshine warm and soft and Out of the sunshine into darkest I off twould faint with sorrow and af-fright
Only for this—I know He holds my hand;
So whither led in green or desert land, I trust, although I cannot understand. "And by still waters?" No, not al-ways so; Ofttimes the heavy tempests round me blow. And o'er my soul the waves and bil-lows go. But when the storms beat loudest and I cry Aloud for help, the Master standeth by And whispers to my soul, "Lo, it is I." Above the tempest wild I hear Him

THE TOILER'S SONG. What sound is that ascending sweet, Eternities of time to greet? What can it be, so pure and free. That brims and swells from hill to The uncreated years to most?

It is the song that women sing.
Who fetch and carry; and who bring
To valiant birth, to living worth.
To bonatful, struggling sons of earth.
Who stand to challenge everything.

It is a song no human tongue But those who toil could e'er have sung: No idle hand with gesture bland. Could wasve a melody so grand. As that from toiling women sprung.

and blest be she who hums it low, Thile homely tasks about her grow; And thrice be blest her final rest, Whose lips chose song as favored guest Above all others life could know, -Lilla H. N. Weston, in National Mag-nzine.
